Mens', Youths' and Boys' Clothing Department.

The distinguishing feature of our really grand display of Readymade Garments for Mens', Youths' and Boys' Wear, consists in the fact that the material used is of the very best the looms of HAMMEL & DENKER. 14-11 Foreign and Domestic Manufacturers can bring forth. Linings and Trimmings being first-class, correspond in texture, as well as fabric, with the material of the garment. As to the cut and fit, the garments are indeed an eminent success, and elicit highly flattering criticisms from all sides. Through untiring efforts we have succeeded in securing an assortment of CHILDREN'S SUITS and OVERCOATS which will meet the appreciation of our patrons, being, in all respects, the most complete and most choice assortment displayed by any house on the Pacific Coast.

our Immigrants and Where They San Francisco, Oct. 28.—The Immigration Association reports 956 immigrant arrivals by overland railroads for the week. They are mostly from New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and New England, with a few of all States and Europe. The Association is rapidly completing its arrangements for settlements on Government lands under the homestead and pre-emption laws on Eel river, Elk creek and Round valley in Mendocino county, and on Fell and Patt rivers and other districts in Shasta county; on Honey and Eagle Lakes and the passage of a law to present the mancounty; on Honey and Eagle Lakes and in Big and Long valleys in Lassen county, and in Salinas and Naciamento rivers and in Estrella valley in San Luis Obispo county, and in the Indian and Cholame valleys in Monterey county, expressed his intention of joining the some of which are already rapidly filling up. Other localities are being examined, especially the foothill regions, where it s believed there are good homes for ten housand families on Government lands. FURTHER ABOUT THE TRUCKEE FIRE. San Francisco, Oct. 28 .- A Truckee the wreck previously reported is the dispatch says a fire last evening destroyed a considerable portion of the business part of the town, including the American Hotel, Sherritt House and American Hotel, Sherritt House and Odd Fellows' building. The loss is probably upwards of $100,000, two-thirds covered by insurance. The fire started in Meek's brewery, and is thought to be attributable to his carelessness, and under the first excitement following there was some talk of lynching him. Yet recently, when the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, through its chief agent in Los Angeles, armed with a "sack," approached the Supervisors and the newspapers of the county with a proposition, not warranted by law, to compromise the road's taxes due on a basis clearly unjust to the people, the Express promptly took the side of the oppressive monopoly as against the people, and advised the the side of the oppressive monopoly as against the people, and advised the shortens the time in which a denial directions, comes in booming for Estee unwarrantable and unjust compro- may be made. mise. Sitting there, Stoneman unway with a good many more he knew way with a good many more he knew the stanford.

These are only two of many illustrations that might be cited to prove the vacillation of that jumping-jack, Janus-faced journal. The simple truth is, the Express has proved itself a very weathercock in its political course, and the fact is notorious. If its foolhardy writer who at this late day has set up for it the plea of consistency and superior devotion to the people's interests, had hindsight as well as foresight—neither of which he appears to possess—he would preserve a tremendous silence upon this serve a tremendous silence upon the make this statement the basis of an serve a tremendous silence upon this said the San Gabriel prophet, said the San Gabriel prophet,

In asserting that the Democratic candidate had conferred with Leland Stanford at the Palace, the Uhronicle did not refer to a meeting in the main office. General Stoneman's confession astonishes us. Can it be possible that he, unable to arrange his business at one, has had two conferences with the railroad monopolist? If ever the organ needed to speak it needs to speak now.

The cool September days invite me
To seek the haunts that most delight me,
With dog and gun;
But of those names together spoken,
Of sylvan joys the blended token,
I have but one.

My gun stands listless in its corner, And looks to-day a silent mourner For Lily dead. Companion dear of all my rambles. Who cheered our home with gleeful gan Her life has fied. The grouse may boom defiance bold,
And safe his leafy covert hold,
From danger free;
The woodcock in the alder-shade
May probe and preen, nor be afraid
Of harm from me.

No shot of mine profaned the air,
While dear old Lily might not share
The keen exciting sport;
Now cold in death she heeds not all
The sharp commands, the whistle's c
Nor yet the gan's report.

'Twas joy to see how wild her glee When'er she chanced to notice me, In hunting garb appear; How fondly have her soft eyes dwelt On canvas coat and cartridge belt, And all my shooting gear.

Within my gates, where children led her, Where loving hands caressed and fed her. Some miscreant spied;

How to Cook Mud-hens.

American Field on this subject, which may be of interest to Pacific Coast hunters: "The query of M. N. H., of Dubuque, Iowa, "Are mud-hens good to reminds me that a good cook told me a year or two ago, that they should always be skinned and laid in salt water ten or twelve hours before cooking. They should be cooked like wild ducks. A wrfter in the old American Sportsman r Fur, Fin and Feather, advised parboiling to take the fishy taste from them, but my friend, the cook, says the fishy taste is nearly all in the skin. Many cooks skin all ducks, and say it improves them. Some skin all feathered game, but in skinning quail or pheasants the reason is their laziness, I think. I have not had an opportunty to try mud-hens since my friend advised me to skin them, but shall try them the first chance I have. I have eaten of them many times, some years ago, that had not been skinned or parboiled, and from some cooks' hands they were very palatable. They are not plenty in this section at any time, but I have seen them in vast numbers on the ponds of Western In-diana. Those who have a chance should
